Her Lights Were Ones Which Ill-Fated Liner Saw, Thinks Capt. Moore.

MORE REASONS GIVEN FOR THE ACCIDENT

Ismay Much Cheered by Some the Evidence Given on Saturday.

Washington, D.C., April 27-Failure to give her exact posia great field of floating ice that offered a frigid barrier to ships hurrying to the rescue and the hurrying to the reseue and the mishing at top speed through an iee-covered sea—all these combin-ed to send the Titanie and her 1,600 victims to their watery grave in the north Atlantic. This was strongly indicated today in testinany before the senate com-mittee investigating the ocean tracedy.

Captain J. H. Moore, steamer Mount Temple, which was sum-moned to the Titanic in response to wireless calls for help, told of the great stretch of field ice which held him off. Within his view from the bridge he descerned, he bield him off. Within his view from the bridge he descenced, the said, another stronge etcamer, probably a tramp, and this schooner was making her way out of the ice. The lights of the training the said the size of the control of the ice. The lights of the control of the ice. The lights of the control of the ice. The lights of the control of the ice of might mitter cartward than the operators reported. This, he declared, he proved by observations taken the first thing on the day following the disaster. With what was a feet of steamers within a radius of fifty miles of the Titanie, the officer said that his mistake in not fixing necurate, by the position of the steamer was a fatal one. In the ielebergs and because of the titanie of the titanie with the production of the steamer was a fatal one. In the ielebergs and because it is not fixed to the titanie of the Titanie might well be overlooked through a variance in the radius of the titanie of the radius of the through a variance in the real position and the mistaken one Ismay Is Cheered.

J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the International Mercantile Marine Co., was much cheered by the testimony this afternoon. Through the week he has had a troubled look and during the long table years he have the look and by the company of the long table years he have the long table years. ing the long daily sessions he has sat silent, seldom speaking to his sat silent, seldom specifing to his associates who necompanied him, the same and the seldom specific to the seldom specific to the seldom seld man who told him she was a stew-cardes, "you are a woman, take "blas."

Smay listened intently, too, as Steward Bright testified he had not left the ship until after all the large boats had gone and only one of the two collapsible boats were the statement of the steward of the work of the two collapsible boats were left on deck. Bright had seen llamay working vith the other works with the supermonder of the starboard collapsible boat, this starboard collapsible boat.

the last to leave the ship trom that side. Bright, who left on the very last beat, the port collapsi-ble, said he knew Ismay had not left the ship until just before the port collapsible was lowered into the water in time to get only a number of yards from the Titanic

When the People Refuse to Pay

EVER since King John signed the Magna Charta the people have been discovering new rights and asserting them.

Long ago the people learned how to get what they wanted-by the simple expedient of "refusing to pay."

In the days when kings played "war" with one another the people could always put a sudden end to the fun by "refusing to pay."

To-day, when men play the great game of business, they have to depend on the people, even as did those kings of long ago. When the people stop payment, the game ends.

payment, the game ends.

Of high importance is "the right to know" as applied to modern commerce. The people have found they want a "reason why" before they buy.

We awoke to this fact but a short while ago, when a few manufacturers began to rell us some of the things they thought we should know about thir goods. They were the pioneer advertisers.

Soon the world discovered that it had an appetite for facts. And in the re-adjustment of things for the proper satisfaction of this appetite, we have developed a new science—its name is "Advertising."

Advertising.

When we buy soap, we must know "Whose soap?" "How is it snade?"

"What are its properties?" "What are its uses?" "Wherein does it excel?" The Advertising tells us.

It's the same with well-nigh everything we buy—food, clothes, furniture, pianos, automobiles. We will have the facts about these things-or we will refuse to pay.

We, the public, have created a new world force. We call it "Advertising."

Advice regarding your advertising problems is available through any recognized Canadian nadvertising agency, or through the Secretary of the Canadian Perest Astociation, Room 503 Lumden Bilds, Toronto. Enquiry involves no obligation on your part—10 write, if interested
